

Danielle Alberti

Web developer and designer specializing in interactive data visualization

Experience

Pew Research Center

Web developer, August 2014 - Present

Developing and designing interactive graphics for seven research areas and the Fact Tank blog. Using data and news sense to help a broad audience understand new reports.

Application Developers Alliance

Digital strategist, January 2014 - August 2014

Managed the trade organization's online presence and digital assets.

Scripps Howard News Service

Digital news producer, September 2010 - November 2013

Developed interactive graphics and data visualizations for the investigative syndicated national news service. Supported computer-assisted reporting projects. Managed public and subscriber websites. Supervised and mentored more than 20 undergraduate interns.

Dow Jones News Fund — Intl. Center for Journalists

Comms intern, June - December 2010

Diary of a Predator

Editor of digital content, October 2009 - August 2012

CU Independent

Editor-in-chief, January 2008 - May 2010

American Cowboy Magazine

Web intern, August 2009 - June 2010

Education

University of Colorado at Boulder

May 2010; B.S. - News-Editorial

Skills

Interactive data visualization

Javascript, jQuery, D3

React

HTML, CSS, SASS

GIS

Responsive web design

Grunt, Gulp

Photoshop, InDesign, Illustrator

Wordpress

Photography

Copy editing (AP style)

Contact

alberti.danielle@gmail.com

DanielleAlberti.com

@daniellealberti

github.com/albertid